

NEW SALES & MARKETING MANAGER FOR PMSA

Pan Mixers South Africa (PMSA) – one of Africa's leading suppliers of concrete equipment solutions and technology, is proud to announce the appointment of Quintin Booysen as the company's new sales and marketing manager.

Booyesen has comprehensive experience in marketing industrial products – particularly concrete and building equipment – in developing economies. He has visited more than 50 countries on six continents, where he has worked on projects ranging from community and housing to rural schooling and community development projects.

Booyesen holds an honours degree in BSc Building Science (Wits), a PDBA (GIBS) and an MBA (GIBS), and has received several academic awards, including academic honorary colours from University of Pretoria.

Having attended and presented at several international conferences on the construction of housing, schooling and buildings in developing economies, Booyesen's wealth of knowledge and expertise makes him a valuable asset to PMSA. The management would like to welcome him to the team and wishes him well in his new position.
